

Redundancy Support Programme

Help for Gloucestershire's Workforce

Gloucestershire First is the County's economic partnership and is supporting businesses and their workforce in adapting to the challenges of the current economic climate, to develop new skills and find alternative employment opportunities.

The Redundancy Support Programme is a new initiative that's been specially designed to meet the needs of individuals who are facing redundancy or are newly redundant. The programme is free and offers a personal development plan, a package of training and job search support to help people make the next choice in their career.

Already decided your next step?

One or two day short training programmes that can give you the skills you need to achieve your goals.

Need recognition for existing skills?

Professional training programmes are available to help you get the certification and recognition you need.

Looking to change of career direction?

Sector qualifications recognised by employers are available to give you the best possible start in you new career.

Are you in a management or senior supervisory role?

Facilitated coaching, action learning, aptitude testing, financial planning, and job search packages geared towards helping you find your next role.

What happens next?

Please contact Sarah Danson 01452 450067 or Kim Jolliffe 01452 450064 at Gloucestershire First for further details and to discuss your individual needs.

Response to Redundancy is managed by Gloucestershire First and funded by the European Social Fund.